Interesting Pet News!

Puppy behavior — Socializing is key.

Summer is here. You know what that means...

Puppy Season!

People are getting their new pups home and integrated into families. Starting to teach them where their bed is, when meals are, and how to play with the kids. There is so much for a puppy to learn within the first few weeks in a new home. It's tough to fit it all in. Many of us get bogged down in teaching the day-to-day that we forget about all those other weird objects and situations our soon-to-be-adult dogs will need to get used to!

Enter: Puppy Socialization Classes! These classes are the single most important thing you can do for your new addition.

Puppy socialization classes are like a “vaccine” for behavior problems. The number one reason pups grow up to be fearful or nippy is due to their limited experiences with a variety of people, places, and things.

In our Puppy Socialization Class, your furry friend will be exposed to novel objects in a positive manner, we'll teach practical skills you can use in everyday life, and teach our families how to troubleshoot problems long past their time with us.

Taught and lead by the staff of renowned veterinary behaviorist, Amy Pike, you know that you'll be getting the best in the business. Jessey Scheip and Kayla Paugh have been working with animals for years.

Between the two of them, they have multiple certifications, advanced education, and in-depth experience, all of which can be used to your advantage. You are welcome to visit their website at www.abwellnesscenter.com to get to know them better and see what sort of services they offer.

If you have a new puppy and want to give them the best chance of a long, happy life, contact us today! Let us help you get there.

Cat's Corner

Did you know...

- Calico cats are almost always female.
- Cats cannot taste anything sweet.
- Cats cannot see in complete darkness.
- Cats have sandpaper-like tongues that they use to clean and groom themselves.
- The technical term for a cat’s hairball is a “bezoar.”

Coal

PET OF THE MONTH

Our July pet of the month is Coal, a joyful 7-year-old schnauzer who is always sporting a fashionable bandanna. A couple of months ago, Coal came in for a dental cleaning and his teeth cleaned up very well. We obtained digital dental radiographs of his mouth and performed a few tooth extractions. After the extractions, we applied the MLS® Laser Therapy to the extracted areas to promote accelerated healing. Coal enjoys stopping by for happy visits and flashing his pearly whites!

We would like to extend a special thanks to Caroline Webster for her Pet of the Month articles for the months of June and July.

Did you know...

- Petting a dog can lower your blood pressure.
- The Basenji doesn’t bark, he yodels.
- It might sound really strange, but some dogs actually lick their paws and then clean their heads, just like cats.
- The nitrogen in your dogs urine is what kills grass.
